Memorandum for the Record

July 23, 2008

Subject: CPSC-I-08-0017

1. This interagency agreement is established between the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) and the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST). NIST will provide technical support and laboratory services for evaluating the flammability of mattress sets, and provide their findings to CPSC. This agreement will allow CPSC staff to carry out its obligations in accordance with regulatory, compliance, and enforcement purposes under the Flammable Fabrics Act.
2. This research is essential to the work of the agency because CPSC is concerned about the hazard of flammability of mattress sets that can result in death and/or injury to consumers. Typically, these deaths can occur when consumers smoke cigarettes in bed.
3. This interagency acquisition will be procured in accordance with the Economy Act and under the specific authorities of Section 27(g) of the Consumer Product Safety Act, (15 U.S.C. 2076(g)) and Section 29(d) of the Consumer Product Safety Act, (15 U.S.C. 2078(d)).
4. The NIST has unique and specialized knowledge, capabilities and facilities to perform this study which are not available at CPSC. These services cannot be obtained as conveniently or economically by contracting directly with a private source. CPSC will provide NIST with all test samples and staff to conduct the testing, and will work closely with NIST staff during this project. The most effective method of obtaining this test work on the flammability of mattresses is by obtaining them from NIST. Therefore, use of this interagency acquisition is determined to be in the best interest of the Government.
